

Students are responsible to take three pages of Cornell notes, per week, in five academic subject classes. They need to keep their notes organized in a binder, which will be checked on Fridays by the teacher and/or AVID tutors.

To be credited as a page of Cornell notes, the notes must fill the page; students must have cues and at least 1 question in the left margin, notes on the right, and a 2-3 sentence reflection.

In lieu of Cornell formatted notes, students may complete a DILQ or learning log (1/2 page) for each day they do not have notes from class for that subject.

Each full page of Cornell notes counts for 2 points. A fourth page may be used in each subject for 1 point of extra credit.
